DETAILED ACTION

Continued Examination Under 37 CFR 1.114

1. A request for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, including the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e), was filed in this application after final rejection. Since this application is eligible for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, and the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e) has been timely paid, the finality of the previous Office action has been withdrawn pursuant to 37 CFR 1.114. Applicant's submission filed on 22 March 2006 has been entered.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

2. The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

3. Claims 1-6 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the written description requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to reasonably convey to one skilled in the relevant art that the inventor(s), at the time the application was filed, had possession of the claimed invention. In claim 1, line 1, the expression "wet spinning process" (emphasis added) is not supported by the originally-filed specification and thus, constitutes new matter.

4. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

5. Claims 1-6 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Claim 1, as presently written is inconsistent and incorrect. Line 1 recites "[a] wet spinning process" (emphasis added), for which there is no support in the originally-filed specification (see paragraph 3 above). However, the disclosed and claimed process is a dry spinning process (not a wet spinning process) as evidenced by the newly-added recitation (which is supported by the originally-filed specification) at lines 10 and 11 of claim 1, namely, "the solvent is driven off during the spinning" (which is what occurs during a dry spinning process; see Frey et al (of record), page 395).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

6. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negatived by the manner in which the invention was made.

7. Claims 1-6 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Oxenrider et al (U.S. Patent 3,899,563 A) in combination with Frey et al ("Fibres by Dry Spinning Processes").

Oxenrider et al (see the entire document, in particular, col. 1, lines 12-14 and 55-57; col. 1, line 68 to col. 2, line 19; col. 8, lines 33-68; col. 10, lines 8-14) teaches a process of making a textile fiber having permanent repellant action as claimed, including mixing a polyacrylonitrile polymer with an ambivalent polymer with fluorocarbon groups as the repelling groups and with nitrile groups as the affine residual groups, except that Oxenrider et al does not explicitly teach solution (or dry) spinning the polyacrylonitrile polymer system, which is taught by Frey et al (see the entire document, in particular, pages 395, 397, 398 and 401) and would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made in the process of Oxenrider et al in view of Frey et al principally in order to make textile fibers from polymers comprising polyacrylonitrile.

Response to Arguments

8. Applicant's arguments filed on 24 May 2006 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

9. Applicant argues (page 2) that the originally-filed specification provides support for "wet spinning". Examiner responds that the originally-filed specification does not provide support for wet spinning, but instead provides support for dry spinning (i.e., solvent is driven off during spinning is dry spinning, whereas solvent removed by a liquid bath is wet spinning; see Frey et al (of record), page 395).
